HAWAII PICTURE PLAY CONTAINS SCENIC BEAUTY

Showing is Given in Its Entirety in Private View at the Empire Theater

Kaolulani, the moving picture film produced by Dr. H. G. Stafford of the Aloha Film Company, was shown in its entirety at the Empire theater yesterday afternoon, before a number of residents of Honolulu who had been asked to witness the first filming of the play.

The film, "Made in Hawaii," is filled with scenes of the beauty spots that are to be found throughout the islands. The polo pictures which were taken at Kapiolani park show a spirited game, and the fishing scene is one of the best that has been filmed. Altogether the photography of the play is excellent and Gilbert Warrenton, who had charge of this department, got all that was possible out of the wonderful light effects that are to be found in Hawaii.

There is not much of a plot, consequently the players were not given an opportunity to show what they can really do. Ned Steel as the hero, and Claire Simpson in the title role handled their parts well, although there were really no strong scenes. Dr. Stafford did an especially good piece of work in several of the scenes as the half-cast Portuguese, while John Wise blossomed out as a real film artist in his portrayal of Kaolulani's father.

The plot, moving picture plays always have one, is a story of a tourist who comes to Hawaii and falls in love with a girl who is called Kaolulani, which in Hawaiian means "Sent from Heaven." The girl was shipwrecked and taken into the home of a Hawaiian chief. A half-cast Portuguese, who is jealous of the tourist, attempts to kill him, once by tying him at the brink of a crater and another time attempting to throw him over a cliff. This scene, which was taken up Nuuanu valley, shows Steel and Stafford falling 60 feet, clasped in each other's arms, into the cold waters below. The last scene shows the two lovers, married, leaving for the mainland on the Matsucia.

SUITS ARISING FROM MARITAL TANGLES ON DECREASE IN CITY

J. Aizoku Dominis, circuit court clerk, leaned over his desk Wednesday and wept—not real weeping, of course, but the way they do it in the movies. The cause of the clerk's grief was the divorce record. While counting up the October divorces this morning, Dominis discovered that only 25 suits had been filed during the month. This is far below the average. This summer divorces were filed at the rate of one and sometimes two each day, and Dominis considers the October record a bad showing.

HALLOWEEN PARTY AT Y. W. C. A. ATTRACTS MANY ACTIVE MEMBERS

More than 100 members of the Y. W. C. A. were present at the Halloween party which was held at the association Tuesday evening. Fortune tellers, witches with their brooms and masked dancers were present. Games were played and a musical program was given. Miss Alice Hopper and Miss Ethel Damon sang solos. The program was given under the direction of two committees, of which Mrs. Ralph Johnstone and Miss Alice Hopper are chairmen.

JAPANESE NEWSPAPERMEN HEAR WIRELESS LECTURE

Editors of the various Japanese newspapers and writers for magazines were guests at a dinner at the Mizuki Club last night given by Manager Akai in honor of Engineer E. Yokoyama of the department of communication of Japan, who is here to inspect the wireless plants of Marconi Wireless Company in view of the contract to be made by that company with Japan. Before the dinner Engineer Yokoyama delivered a very interesting lecture on modern systems of wireless and future development, its necessity and the discovery of light and power in the air.

Among those present were the Japanese reporters of the Star-Bulletin and Advertiser, Editors Nidgate and Sogawa of the Hawaii Shinjo, Asami and Hara of the Nippon Jiji, Murakami of Choho, Onaka and Tsuchiya of Hawaii Hochi, Secretary Onodera of the Chamber of Commerce, and members of the Specie Bank.

WELCOME TO BE GIVEN TO ANGEL CITY VISITORS

With the Hill steamer Great Northern due in less than two weeks, bringing a delegation from the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce on a visit to the Hawaiian Islands, the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce, with Mayor John C. Lane, is preparing to welcome the party.

The entertainment committee has planned to go out to meet the visitors and today Fred Waldron, local agent for the Hill liner, said that the big steamer would stop long enough outside the harbor for the welcoming party to board her. Mayor Lane has prepared a big hon wood key with an inscription in silver which he plans to present to the Los Angeles men and their wives as an aloha from the city and speeches of welcome, not only to the Los Angeles people, but to all the passengers, will be made.

Hearing of the case of C. H. Ching, charged with having opium in possession and attempting to defraud the United States, was to be had this afternoon before U. S. Commissioner George S. Curry. Ching is at liberty on bond in the sum of $2000.

CITY AFFAIRS AND SUPERVISOR NOTES

The next meeting of the board of supervisors will be held Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The meeting Tuesday evening was the first in many weeks that some member of the board did not take a rap at the city attorney's office.

The installation of a traffic semaphore at the corner of Fort and Beretania streets by W. H. Hoogs as an experiment, without cost to the city, was authorized by the board.

Mayor John C. Lane was asked by the board to appoint another janitor for the McKinley High school. Ben Hoilinger made the request, as he said the work there had so increased that another man was necessary.

William Larsen, chairman of the water committee of the board of supervisors, announced during the meeting that just a year ago today he went on the water wagon and during the entire 12 months his foot did not slip once.

The board of supervisors has passed a resolution appropriating $199 for the purpose of fighting the Pearl City schoolhouse case. The board appropriated money out of another fund to build the schoolhouse and the city attorney's office brought an action in injunction. This is the second amount appropriated.

Charles Arnold, chairman of the road committee, announced that the committee had approved the Carnival Decoration Company's petition to erect Venetian masts on King street, between River and Richards streets, and on Fort street, from Beretania to Merchant streets, if the company will file a $1500 bond. The report of the committee was passed by the board.

Because the $3500 appropriated by the legislature for the use of high schools is not sufficient, the board passed a resolution appropriating $200 out of the general fund. There was considerable argument as to whether the money should come out of the general fund or the District of Honolulu fund, but as it might raise another Pearl City question, the board chose the former, although a letter from Superintendent Kinney said he believes it would be all right to take it from the latter.

E. H. Berry, of Atchison, Kan., who is past middle age and is not a clergyman, says he never uttered a profane word.

LOCAL CLIMATE IS IDEAL, SAYS METEOROLOGIST

That the weather in Honolulu, comparing favorably with those of other localities, is nearly perfect, is the opinion of A. M. Hamrick, U. S. meteorologist. "To the person who continually lives here," he said, "this condition is not appreciated as it has become an every day occurrence, but let him go away for a while and get caught in a blizzard or a real hot spell on the mainland and he will quickly decide that Hawaii is the best place after all."

"Now take the precipitation here," Hamrick continued. "During October it rained 1.21 inches and that amount was spread out over 20 days. The temperature is also ideal for the hot test day we had during the past month only reached 84 degrees and the mean temperature was 76.6 degrees."

EXPECT 5000 LANTERNS IN FRIDAY NIGHT PARADE

Japanese residents of the city, to the number of more than 5000, will hold their grand lantern parade on Friday evening. The parade and festivities will be given in honor of the crown prince, who will receive his honors at the palace in Tokyo tomorrow evening.

According to the committee in charge more than 5000 paper lanterns have been prepared for the marchers and all of them are expected to be seen in the parade. At 7:30 Friday evening all Japanese who wish to join the parade will assemble at Ala park, where the line will form, and from there the marchers will parade up King street to Nuuanu, and up Nuuanu to the Japanese consulate, where three banquets will be given for the crown prince. Consulate-General R. Moroi will receive the crowd in the grounds of the consulate.

There will also be a reception held at the consulate Friday morning from 10:30 to 11 o'clock.

About 45 Japanese geisha girls will follow the old custom of street dancing and will join in the lantern parade.
